

Worldwide Responsible Accredited Production (WRAP) Services

The WRAP program monitors and certifies lawful, humane and ethical production in the apparel/textile, footwear, and sewn products industry. Our accredited experts conduct independent audits to ensure that the facility fulfills requirements according to WRAP principles.

WRAP CERTIFICATION

The Worldwide Responsible Accredited Production (WRAP) program is the world's largest facility certification program for labor-intensive sectors including the apparel/textile, footwear, sewn products industry and their supply chain.

Although independent of the global apparel industry, the WRAP program enjoys wide support from more than 20 trade and industry associations from around the world. The International Apparel Federation and the American Apparel & Footwear Association both provide ongoing active support.

WRAP is a facility-based certification program. Participating facilities voluntarily agree to undergo an on-site evaluation conducted by an Independent Accredited Monitor to ensure their compliance with established WRAP principles. The program aims to independently monitor and certify compliance with socially responsible global standards for manufacturing to support lawful, humane, and ethical conditions.
